

Abstract

Embodiments of the present invention relate to a computer-implemented method and system for managing intra-day interest calculation on a bank account. The embodiments provide for control of and support for interest calculations that, instead of 5 being based on daily end-of-day account balances, are based on a plurality of net account balances as determined for a plurality of points in time within a day.